Understanding the Parsha according to the Rebbe ממ"ש

QUESTION: G-d blesses the 7th month that provides the ability for us to bless the other eleven months. What is the blessing of HaShem?

ANSWER: The blessing is recorded in this week's Parsha which is always read immediately preceding Rosh HaShana. Atem Nitzavim HaYom – G-d promises that all of the Jews will stand strong and united on the day of Rosh HaShana and enter into the covenant with HaShem.

(תורת-מנחם התוועדויות ה'תשמ"ז כרך ד, עמ' 377)

QUESTION: What is the lesson for our individual service of the levels of "hewers of wood" & "drawers of water"?

ANSWER: עציך alludes to the word עצה the many thoughts and counsels that are available to a person. Yet the only true path is from HaShem. One must discern the correct path and "chop-out" all the other advices that the world provides. מימיר refers to the waters that nourish all the pleasures of the world, drawing a person away from the path of HaShem. One needs to be a drawer of water (avoiding all the other distractions) going to the true path of holiness.

(לקוטי שיחות כרך יד, עמ' 114)

QUESTION: The Jews obtained a covenant at Har Sinai. What is the nature of the additional covenant which Moshe established at the end of the 40 years between G-d and the Jewish people?

ANSWER: At Ha Sinai the Jews entered into a covenant with G-d to be His people. At the end of the time in the Desert, HaShem made the "effort" to establish a covenant that cemented the special connection between the Jews and Himself. This covenant was specially done at Rosh HaShana, so that every Rosh Hashana He renews the covenant with the neshama while in the body.

(לקוטי שיחות כרך כד, עמ' 188)

QUESTION: How is the love of G-d an "easy" thing to do (כי קרוב אליך הדבר מאוד בפיו ולבבך לעשותו)?

ANSWER: Love of G-d emanates from one's knowing Him.

One may know G-d through faith, a "short" path in that every Jew naturally believes in G-d; yet, this can be a long path, as faith does not remove obstacles

A person must also toil intellectually to know G-d. And while this is a "long" path, since G-d is not easily "known"; however, once this knowledge is gained, the path is indeed short, for "Know the G-d of your father," leads to "and serve Him with a complete heart."

(לקוטי שיחות כרך לד, עמ' 173)

(א) Nitzavim is always read prior to Rosh HaShana; through true unity among Jews, we enter a covenant with G-d, which is a bond beyond rational considerations, that can not be weakened (ה) 40 days are for additional acts of tzedakah having spiritual effects as well; gifts to the "poor" from "one to one's companion" stirs others to enhance themselves		נצבים היום כט:ט	ב
Baal Shem Tov interprets Atem Nitzavim that the Jews stand victorious in the judgment of Rosh HaShana	All Israel are responsible one for another; for every single Jew possesses a particular advantage over every other, and can, therefore, serve as a guarantor for the other	אתם נצבים כט:ט	ד
If one wants to leave their personal exile, one must ensure the redemption of every Jew	HaShem is not only a protector of the Jews while they are in Galus, but He is also in Galus suffering with the Jews G-d preset that He would gather the exiles and together they will return from Galus	*ושב הוי' אלקיך את שבותך לג:	טא
A Jew's service adds in the blessings of HaShem	Baal Shem Tov says G-d blesses the month of Tishrei, but only after the Jews begin their service (by reading in the Torah אתם נצבים)	אתם נצבים היום כט:ט	טב
Written Torah and the Oral Torah are seen as one unit when using mesiras nefesh and kabolat ol	Use a masculine הזה, when the subject is Sefer (written), indicates what is written in the Sefer When the subject is Torah (oral), then uses a feminine הזאת	*בספר התורה הזה כט:כ	ידא
Even if one's profession is not Torah, one can raise oneself above the physical (thru the Moshe in each of us)	"Hewers of wood" & "drawers of water" indicate a new convert accepted by Moshe, similar to Yehoshua's acceptance of the Givonim	*מחוטב עציך כט:י	ידב
G-d promises to provide all Jews with blessing, regardless of their spiritual station, adding only that the everlasting blessing is dependent on a person's fulfilling the Mitzvos	Specifically, through a blessing followed by a curse, that a person can reach so lofty a degree of repentance, that he will return with "all his heart and all his soul"	הברכה לא:	ידג
On Rosh HaShana we make a new connection with G-d; Torah & Mitzvos are the means of this essential connection	Establishment of this special covenant between G-d and the Jews comes after the curses of the prior Parsha: either words of appreciation of the kindnesses that G-d performed for us; or, these are words of comfort after the previous curses	*לעברך בברית ה' כט:יא	יטא
Every Jew is connected with all Jews throughout time; thus, does not need to fear the nations around him	The covenant with the group of those "not here today" is direct and equal to the group of those "here today" עם-ישראל כולו הוא מציאות אחת	*איננו פה כט:יד	יטב

When we choose G-d, not only logically but also due to our soul's essence, then He in turn is moved to choose us as "His treasured nation," showering us with all manner of good	The power possessed by every Jew to choose freely, just as G-d can choose freely to do exactly as He pleases, lies in the fact that one's soul is rooted in G-d; Thus, when the soul's essence chooses G-d because of something that transcends reason, the intensity of this choice is limitless	*ובחרת בחיים ל:יט	יטג
At Har Sinai, G-d made a covenant with the neshama; every Rosh Hashana He renews the covenant with the neshama in the body (with a blessing for both)	As Har Sinai HaShem made a covenant with the Jews to be His people; upon leaving the desert He now establishes a covenant in a manner that the Jewish people are always connected "stand before Him"; at the end of the 40 years, we are assured that the covenant is immutable	*הקים אותך היום לו לעם כט:יב	כד
During Elul we express our love to G-d; during the days of Awe, our love of G-d becomes His love to us	After a person has done complete teshuva (removing the foreskin of one's heart), G-d will reciprocate and circumcise one's heart (removing the innate barriers) to serve fully	ומל ה"א את לבבך ל:ו	כטא
On Rosh HaShana, we approach HaShem in two ways "like a son, like a servant" (bitul)	Standing steadfast, unchanging going without rest; constant change Torah & tefilah contains both types	נצבים-וילך	כטב
Even in Galus, one must incorporate the orderly and extraordinary regardless of one's level	In Galus, one might think that to learn Torah (or do Mitzvos) one needs to cross great distances (up to the Heavens, cross the seas); Moshe assures us that this is not so, one can do Torah & Mitzvos anywhere	*לא בשמים היא ל:יב	לדא
Chassidus began with emphasis on faith as expressed "by faith a Tzadik lives"; but the ultimate completion of the revelation of Chassidus requires knowing G-d through intellectual toil, which will permeate a person in one's entirety without obstacles	Raavad – Simplistic faith (Emunah & intellect separate items) Rambam –understand as much as possible; love of HaShem based on individual effort (the longer but short way); insufficient to rely on love of HaShem based on faith (the shorter but long way) A person must also toil intellectually to know G-d And while this is a "long" path, since G-d is not easily "known"; however, once this knowledge is gained, the path is indeed short, for "Know the G-d of your father," leads to "and serve Him with a complete heart"	כי קרוב אליך הדבר מאוד ל:יד	לדב
